

NEW INCOME FOR PLANT HIRERS

- No more idle Plant!
- Full CPA and/or HAE Level Protection to include :-
 - a) Material Damage to Plant
 - b) Continuing Hiring Charges
 - c) Fraudulent Hire

It works like this :-

1. A potential client Hirer, not able to provide the necessary CPA and/or HAE or similar condition approaches a Plant Owner for hire.
2. The Plant Operator, having established that the applicant has no CPA and/or HAE conditions protection, directs the client to the FML website.
3. The client makes a direct application to FML providing the details of the Plant.
4. FML provides the client with a quotation on-line, which, if the client accepts, they are invited to telephone and arrange for the agreed premium to be paid by credit card and/or similar.
5. FML will issue the certificate by return, either on-line or by fax to the Plant Owner confirming that the policy has been issued.
6. The policy will be in the title of the Plant Owner with the Temporary Hirer having their interest noted, thus protecting the Owner and paying all claims direct to the Plant Owners.
7. Underwriters reserve the right to make such recoveries from the Hirer, as deemed necessary or appropriate.

Stand Alone Policy:

The insurance arranged by FML is completely independent of the Plant Owner's own policy, has no bearing on the overall claims experience of the Plant Owner and it is a total and complete 'stand alone' protection, thus protecting own policy from hirer's claim!

No Paperwork:

The Plant Owner, as a result of having an 'FSA' Introducer status, is not involved in the setting up of the policy in any shape or form, including the collection of premium, issuing or handling documents, or giving advice, other than possibly passing a leaflet detailing the cover to the potential Hirer.

New Income:

FML will provide an Introducer Fee to the Plant Owner on each deal, driven by the size and volume of the transaction. The Plant Owner receives an Introducer Fee for doing exactly that, "introducing the Hirer to FML".
